During high school, I had planned to continue my education at a northeast Georgia, private two-year college, Young Harris. But my Dad had other plans for me. He was among several in the area who had worked to secure a junior college in Hall County. Naturally, he wanted me to attend Gainesville Junior College (we all know the influence our Dads have on us, especially when they're footing the bills)! I became involved with GJC two weeks after my high school graduation. President Mills hired me as the first student employee at the College. At that time, the College consisted of two offices at the OLD Dixie Hunt Hotel in downtown Gainesville. My, how things have changed!!

Before the first quarter began, I married Jim Henderson. Being a devoted employee of GJC, I insisted he transfer from Truett-McConnell. During the next few months and years, my family continued to become even more involved. My Dad was selected to become a Charter Trustee of the Foundation, my Mother was chosen as the Head Dietitian for the College, Jim and I attended classes, and I continued my employment with the College.

As years passed, Jim and I graduated and continued to be extremely involved with campus activities. Now, our daughter, Millie (age 7), has just completed her sixth year of swimming classes at the College. Also, she has participated in gymnastics and basketball clinics sponsored by the Continuing Education Department.

Nieces, nephews, cousins, and loads of personal friends of mine have attended Gainesville College. As you can see, my family has definitely been involved with Gainesville College. When the Gainesville College Alumni Association (G.C.A.A.) was established, I had a vested interest in that organization. And, becoming involved is what the Alumni Association is all about. Hopefully, as you read about what's happening with the Association, you'll want to become more involved. We hope you will!!

I'm sure you didn't miss our front page story about the "Coca-Cola Party of the Year" — 1988 Homecoming at Gainesville College on Sunday, October 23. I understand that Coke collectors are already requesting to buy the commemorative bottles by the case, but you get first chance . . . it will be a fun afternoon, please join us.

Bill Stephens, the first President of the Alumni Association, has never really left us and has been very busy planning the many events to be held in 1989 in celebration of the 25th Anniversary of the founding of Gainesville College. The Alumni Association is serving as the coordinating body for the celebration and Bill asked me to extend a special invitation to all alumni to volunteer to serve on one of the committees. They are listed below with a few details and a form to complete.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR SUBMISSION
ENTHUSIASM REFLECTED IN ALUMNI
by J. Foster Watkins
President, Gainesville College

Several recent contacts with Alumni have reinforced my belief that Gainesville College is a viable institution that makes a difference in the lives of its students who subsequently contribute to the positive developments of Northeast Georgia. I met with the Executive Committee at its summer planning meeting. I worked with Bill Stephens, our first Alumni Association President, in his current role as working chairman of our upcoming 25th Anniversary Celebration. Pat McArthy, Bill, and I developed a proposal for a large corporation to serve as corporate sponsor for that celebration. Subsequently, Bill, Pat, Rich White (a GC Alumnus who will be the Chairman of the Gainesville College Foundation during the year of our 25th Anniversary Celebration), and I made the trip to Atlanta to make the presentation to the corporation. More recently, I attended the Alumni Advisory Council meeting at the Beef Corral in Gainesville.

Space does not allow me to be too detailed relative to all of these contacts, but I will illustrate the basis for my belief primarily through a discussion of the visit to Atlanta with the 25th Anniversary proposal. It was obvious that the company representative had expected only me. In the meeting, however, I was the least important person in the room. Rich White and Bill Stephens brought their business experience and their abilities to relate to important people to bear on the discussions and established a meaningful set for the proposal presentation. Pat McArthy did an effective job in presenting the proposal in an abbreviated manner and making the case that the proposal is in-depth in nature and stands alone as a document. The proposal had been prepared well primarily through the leadership of Pat and Bill. The effective manner in which those three alumni presented the proposal and interacted during the course of the meeting made the best case for our institution and the best case for legitimate participation by this corporation through a significant expenditure of its funds.

We feel strongly that the 25th Anniversary Celebration of Gainesville College will probably be the most significant event to occur in 1989 in Northeast Georgia. The planning coordinated by your Alumni Executive Committee beginning with Homecoming this Fall, leading up to November 17, 1989, and extending beyond for more than a year's celebration has been well done. Keep in mind that the dedication of the new building, a continuing emphasis on endowment fund raising, and the celebration of the 25th Anniversary which, as is noted in the Anniversary logo, is only the beginning of the years of service for this institution will be highlighted during the celebration.

Please accept the challenge from Bill Stephens and Sandra Henderson, currently President of the Alumni Association, to become involved. Elsewhere in this Anchors Away is a listing of opportunities to serve. Please indicate your willingness to be a part of this planning and become meaningfully involved.

I approach this year at Gainesville College with a high degree of enthusiasm, with much of that enthusiasm related to the beginning successes of our Alumni activities. Last week, I visited six other two-year colleges in Florida and Georgia. None of those institutions comes close to having the kind of Foundation/Alumni development activities that are ongoing at Gainesville College. As alumni, you continue to be the best representatives of this institution and our best recruiters. Please keep us in mind as you move about in your daily lives.

Hope to see each of you at Homecoming on October 23. Be sure to be present and get your commemorative Coca-Cola bottle.

YOU'RE INVITED TO CAMPUS...
